

Air Ambulance | More angels of mercy trust our wings.

KING AIR C90GTx | 250 | 350

Speed, comfort and versatility are especially critical when there are lives at stake. King Air aircraft feature large, pressurized, environmentally controlled cabins and the high dash speeds and range required to expeditiously transport critical-care patients. Additionally, the King Air series is capable of operating from short, unimproved runways, providing additional flexibility during life-and-death situations in remote areas. Cabins may be fitted with multiple medical sleds and cabinetry from all major equipment suppliers. Interior installations can be either permanent or temporary, allowing easy transition between air ambulance and VIP transport missions. Beechcraft has built more air ambulances than any other manufacturer. Patients, crew and operators can all benefit from the experience.

Medical sleds are accommodated through the standard passenger door or the optional cargo door (250c/350c)

All-weather capability with the comfort of pressurized cabins

Outstanding mission-readiness

Proven dispatch reliability

Environmentally-controlled cabin

Ability to fly over weather

Economical fuel efficient turboprop engines

Remote and short airfield access for maximum operational efficiency

TYPICAL SLED CONFIGURATIONS

Beechcraft King Airs have been FAA/EASA certified with single or multiple medical sleds. The medical packages can be installed permanently, or on a temporary basis allowing easy reconfiguration from VIP transportation to medical mercy mission and back—in minimal time.
